CURION PARTNERS with D2D HEALTHCO

Curion Dental Products is excited to announce a new partnership with D2D HealthCo, an Ontario-based company built by dentists for dentists in the dental consumables space. This collaboration is designed with one simple goal in mind: to give Curion customers more options for high-quality, competitively priced consumable products that every dental practice needs.

At Curion, we're always looking for ways to support our customers beyond just premium products and technologies. This partnership with D2D HealthCo makes it easier for practices to access essential supplies—like gloves, sterilization products, and other everyday sundries—without compromising on quality or budget.

"We believe our customers will find real value here, and working with the D2D team has been a natural fit."

- Chris Chung, CEO, Curion

D2D HealthCo shares Curion's values in how a company should operate: putting people first, delivering value, and keeping things refreshingly straightforward. It's that shared mindset that makes this partnership more than just business—it's about building trust and making the everyday easier for Canadian dental practices.

We invite all Curion customers to take a look at what D2D has to offer. We're confident you'll find products that deliver where it counts—in performance, consistency, and cost savings.
