Founded in 1811 by Nicolas Perrier and Adèle Jouët in Épernay. Inspired by nature and a pursuit of quality, the style of Perrier-Jouët has always been floral and intricate. The maison owns 65 hectares of vineyards, 99.2% of which is Grand Cru. The first rosé made by Perrier-Jouët, the bottle's slender neck and slight taper are modeled after the historic Blason de France (1955-1990), Perrier-Jouët's first prestige bottling, in partnership with Relais & Chateau, offered only in the finest restaurants worldwide. First introduced in 1982, this wine is the culmination of an experiment of 100 different bottles, each with a separate approach to the vinification process.
