

THE PRINCE'S
POISON CUP

R.C. SPROUL

ILLUSTRATED BY JUSTIN GERARD

— THE PRINCE'S —
POISON CUP

WRITTEN BY
R.C. SPROUL

ILLUSTRATED BY JUSTIN GERARD

 LIGONIER MINISTRIES

The Prince's Poison Cup

Text: © 2008 by R.C. Sproul

Illustrations: © 2008 by Justin Gerard

Published by Ligonier Ministries

421 Ligonier Court, Sanford, FL 32771

Ligonier.org

Printed in China

RR Donnelley

0000821

First edition, fourteenth printing

ISBN 978-1-56769-104-7 (Hardcover)

ISBN 978-1-56769-237-2 (ePub)

ISBN 978-1-56769-461-1 (Kindle)

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means—electronic, mechanical, photocopy, recording, or otherwise—without the prior written permission of the publisher, Ligonier Ministries. The only exception is brief quotations in published reviews.

Creative direction: Geoff Stevens

Cover and interior design: Matt Mantoath

Illustration: Justin Gerard

Scripture quotations are from the ESV® Bible (The Holy Bible, English Standard Version®), copyright © 2001 by Crossway, a publishing ministry of Good News Publishers. Used by permission. All rights reserved.

The Library of Congress has cataloged the Reformation Trust edition as follows:

Sproul, R.C. (Robert Charles), 1939–2017

The prince's poison cup / by R.C. Sproul ; illustrations by Justin Gerard.

p. cm.

Summary: In order to persuade a child to take her bitter-tasting medicine when she is sick, her grandfather tells her a story in which a prince saves the people from sin by drinking from a poisoned fountain.

ISBN 978-1-56769-104-7

[1. Christian life--Fiction. 2. Parables.] I. Gerard, Justin, ill. II. Title.

PZ7.S7693Pt 2008

[E]--dc22

2008026899

To Ella Ruth Cobb,
our delightful first great-granddaughter

- R. C. SPROUL

“Shall I not drink the cup
that the Father has given me?”

JOHN 18:11B

ONE MORNING not so long ago, in a snug house in a small town, a little girl was feeling sick. Her name was Ella Ruth, but her family simply called her Ella.

Ella had a bad tummy ache, so the doctor had given her some medicine. Ella's father poured some of the medicine into a spoon. But as soon as Ella saw the medicine, she frowned and said: "Oh, Daddy, this medicine looks yucky. Do I really have to take it?"

Her father smiled and said, "Yes, dear, you have to take your medicine if you want to get well."

So Ella worked up her courage and finished the medicine just as her father told her. But then she asked, "Daddy, why does medicine taste so bad if it's going to make us well?"

"Well," her father said, "that's a question that you should ask Grandpa. He always can answer your hard questions. He's coming to visit this afternoon. Get some rest so you'll be feeling better when he gets here."

Ella took a nap and woke up when Grandpa arrived. He hugged Ella and asked her how she was feeling, and Ella told him she was feeling better. Then she looked up at him and said, “Grandpa, may I ask you a question?”

Grandpa nodded and replied, “Of course, my dear.”

“Grandpa, why is my medicine so yucky if it’s going to make me well?”

Grandpa looked thoughtful. “That’s a very good question, Ella,” he said. “Some things that look or taste or smell wonderful are really awful. But sometimes things that seem terrible are actually very good. I even remember a story in which both of these strange things were true. Would you like to hear it?”

“Oh, yes!” Ella said. She loved the stories Grandpa told to explain things. So Grandpa sat down and Ella snuggled up close beside him. Grandpa began by saying:

We want to see men and women around the world connect the deep truths of the Christian faith to everyday life.

Order your copy of this title, download the digital version, or browse thousands of resources at Ligonier.org.