Interiors News

▲ Testing the metal

Based in Florence, Officine Gullo is known for fully customisable, robust range cookers and kitchens that celebrate the metalworking tradition for which the city has long been known. Now, the luxury brand has a new showroom at 12, Francis Street, London, SW1 (020-7036 1632; www.officinegullo.com)

► Weaving a story

De Le Cuona's exquisite new Victoria paisley design is woven in a combination of 14 colours for an intricately beautiful result. Fully reversible, made of wool and cotton and available in five colourways, it costs £276 per m (020-7584 7677; www.delecuona.com)

▲ Raising the curtain

When interior designer and architectural historian Edward Bulmer struggled to find elegant curtain tie-backs and door hardware to complete his projects, he turned to British makers Collier Webb to create his own range based on period patterns. Shown here, Hope and Lenyon curtain tie backs in Antique Brass finish, from £475 per pair (020-7373 8888; www.collierwebb.com)

▲ Cabinet reshuffle

Julian Chichester's design for the Alfred cabinet blends mid-century inspiration with luxurious materials, including black vellum, brass and smoked oak. It costs £6,480 (020-7622 2928; www.julianchichester.com)

▲ Elegant simplicity

This Orchard Bolection moulded chimney-piece is made in Breccia de Medicea marble and based on an example in William III's private dressing room at Hampton Court Palace. It costs £22,560, from Jamb (020-7730 2122; www.jamb.co.uk)
