I cannot tell you how much this has helped my nephew during this time away from school! We started this process with him crying and telling me he can't read. These stories are directly related to the sight words and there are pictures to help with the extra words. It's given him the confidence he needs and he now tell me, "I'm a reader!" Thank you so much!

My students are all still struggling with sight words, comprehension, and reading fluency so this was a PERFECT resource to get them reading out loud to me daily as well as practicing with sight words. I love the built in comprehension questions that come after the passage. This is now a staple in my classroom this year!

So many sight word activities are solely working on learning the word on its own. I love that this activity allows students to read and see the word in context.
