I loved this resource! We did it prior to letting out for Thanksgiving break. It fit into our pacing perfectly since we had just finished up identifying fact families in math.

Super cute can't wait to do these next week to hang up for thanksgiving decor. It also goes along with what we have been working on in math with related facts of division and multiplication

The activity was great. We were learning fact families right before Thanksgiving break and I always love to incorporate a holiday-related activity to make learning fun. This activity made that easy for me to do.
