THE HISTORY OF MODERN HOME PRODUCTS (MHP)

IT PAYS TO WORK WITH A PIONEER IN THE BUSINESS

MHP has a long history of listening to industry demands and meeting or exceeding expectations.

Charmglow 300 Series

1957

MODERN HOME PRODUCTS (MHP) was founded in 1957 by Walter Koziol and was the first manufacturer in decorative gas lighting for residential applications. Gas lighting was marketed under the trade name Charmglow.

1960

The world's first outdoor gas grill was invented by Walter marketed under the trade name of Perfect Host. The Perfect Host was a 22-1/2" round portable cart unit available in natural or LP gas and constructed of steel.

Perfect Host

The Perfect Host changed the way the world cooks-out and laid the foundation for the gas grill industry.

1961

Charmglow had become a household name, so MHP changed the company name to Charmglow Products.

1962

The first rectangular designed gas grill made out of steel with hinged lid was introduced.

1964

Further improving upon our design, the first rustproof cast aluminum rectangular gas grill with a patented hinged lid was introduced. To this day, this remains the industry's most popular design.

Perfect Host TNK

1966

The Chef's Choice series was the first double gas grill with a one piece bottom casting. It was also the first gas grill to receive an industry award for best design. The award winning design featured a 700 sq. in. cooking area and was mounted on a cast aluminum scroll cart.

Chef's Choice

Proven To Endure The Test Of Time
Pictured is one of the first solid rustproof cast aluminum grills made in 1964 and is still in use at a home in Antioch.

1969-1970

The Charmglow name along with the grill and lighting products were sold to Beatrice Foods Company, however the assets of the company were retained.

1978

MHP became the first company to market a comprehensive array of patented universal and exact fit replacement parts for most brands of gas grills.

After the sale, the Koziol family reinstated the MHP company name and began development and engineering of after market gas grill replacement parts.

WNK

1990

MHP introduced the BBQ'er Choice grill series—a superior, high quality all cast aluminum grill available in both natural and LP gas. In addition, MHP introduced another first in innovation and design—the patented SearMagic reversible cooking grids. These grids, constructed of high-performance rustproof aluminum adding cooking and versatility, remain an integral part of current product line-up.

1987

Once the non-compete agreement with Beatrice Foods Company expired, MHP reintroduced a line of cast aluminum and solid brass gas lights. Responding to market demands for better quality and performance, MHP developed a new line of high-end gas grills based the award winning Charmglow designs.

2001

The industry was changing and demanding larger stainless steel grills. MHP responded with the feature-packed GJK 36" grill which boasts an impressive 906 Sq. In cooking area and 54,000 BTUs.

GJK

The GJK was retired at the end of 2019 after 18 years of service.

2003

As demand was increasing for backyard kitchens with impressive built-in designs, MHP released our first series of built-in grills and accessories. We continue to expand our outdoor kitchen product-line.

2005

Early in 2004 MHP turned its attention to developing the first cast aluminum infrared and hybrid grills. Four news models were released in the fall of 2005.

2006

MHP purchased ProFire Grills, which had been in business since 1990, allowing the expansion of the grill line to include high-end stainless steel portable and built-in gas grills.

2008

Once again, responding to industry demands, MHP designed and developed the New Phoenix Grill series—the grill that cooks it all!

PHOENIX
GRILLS

2015

Bringing the great outdoor flavor indoors, the ProFire division introduced ProSear, the first and only all infrared stainless steel indoor gas grill.

2019

In response to industry demands for a high quality stainless steel grill at a more efficient price, ProFire created the Dragon Fire grill. These grills were scrupulously designed to ensure that the quality of the design and construction was not compromised while keeping the overall cost lower.

PROFIRE BRIQUETTE SYSTEM

Turn your ProFire Grill into a true all briquette system.

Unlike other brand options, ours is built to last using a 4 gauge, 304 stainless steel wire grate that is resistant to premature rusting and does not allow items to get trapped in or on the grate. The briquettes, which cover the whole bottom of the grill, are placed at a greater distance from the cooking grate than most of our competitors, translating into less flare-ups and a more even heat pattern. Since porcelain is a better conductor of heat this also means that our system will cook more reliably and produce better results. Great with our stainless steel cooking grids or with our SearMagic grids. Available on all ProFire Grills.

The ProFire Briquette System includes everything needed to convert your ProFire Grill into a true all briquette grill—simply replace the heat plate with the included Stainless Steel Grate and briquettes.

“ I have owned and operated my ProFire Grill for the past 10 years. I am an avid griller usually grilling out 3-4 times per week. My ProFire Grill has always worked well and continues to this day. I have grilled everything from burgers and steaks to fish and vegetables. The rotisserie is a great addition as well. It is one of the best investments I have made for my outdoor patio living space.

THE GRILL THAT COOKS IT ALL!

“

I received my first Phoenix grill for Father's Day in 1998. It was the best grill I'd ever had and I had had several at that point. Since we cook out 2 or 3 times a week, that first Phoenix grill lasted only 14 years. Now we are on our 2nd one and it is 5 years old with no issues. I can't imagine a grill that can do all the things this one does and doing it better. No flare-ups...ever! I LOVE my Phoenix grill; we are a foodie team.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

MHP GRILLS FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

▶ Converting Grills from NG to LP or LP to NG

To convert an MHP grill from one gas type to another, you will need to replace both the valve and orifice. If you only change the orifice, you will have no control over the heat settings on the grill. It will burn at high, and you will not be able to turn it down. Please contact us, or check MHPGrillPartsOnline.com to determine which conversion kit you will need.

▶ Replacing Ignitor Battery

If you do not hear any clicking when you push the ignitor button, it may be time to replace the battery.

Unscrew the ignitor push button and collar. Remove the old battery. Install a new AAA battery into the battery compartment, positive (+) side down. Replace the push button and collar.

▶ Where to Find Your Grill Model Number

The model number tag on your MHP grill is located on the left end cap of the control panel. On some built-in grills, the model number tag will be on the underside of the grease tray.

▶ Material Peeling Inside Top Casting

There is no paint applied on the inside of your grill lid. What you are seeing is a carbon build-up. It does resemble peeling paint, but it is simply grease/food residue that can be scraped off. You can use a wadded up ball of aluminum foil, or a plastic flat blade putty knife to scrape off the majority of the food build-up. The loosened material can then be removed with a shop vac.

▶ Which way do you put in a battery in my ignitor?

Positive side goes down.

▶ Flames have come out the front of my grill by my knobs

This is called a Flashback. Flashbacks are caused by an obstruction in either your venturi tubes or in the orifices.

▶ Can I cook food over my Infra-Red burner when it is not in use?

No, you will not be able to cook food over the Infra-Red Burner when it is not in use it will damage the burner and crack the ceramic.

▶ To clean my MHP burner/venturi can I use compressed air?

▶ My cast oval burner is only lighting on one side?

Over time the portholes will close up you will want to re-open these ports by either drilling them back open or you can sandblast this burner.

HOW TO CLEAN SEARMAGIC COOKING GRIDS

You can use a brass bristle brush to clean SearMagic cooking grids when the grids are hot. When the grids are cold, you can soak them in a Rubbermaid-type container filled with hot water and a grease-cutting dish soap like Dawn, and then scrub with a brass bristle brush or a nylon dish scrubber.

Every time you use your grill, you can take the grid on the left, flip it over, and move it to the right end of the grill, and slide the other grid(s) over to the left, and then pre-heat the grill for 10 minutes on high. Also, heat the grill to high and let it run for 10 minutes after you finish cooking. This will help to burn off anything that has dripped onto the grids.

There is a wood scraping tool (GGWB5), which is like a large wooden two-tined fork, which is designed to help remove clumps of food, marinades, etc. from between the ridges on the SearMagic cooking grids. There is also a narrow, brass bristle brush (GGWB10) which is designed to fit between the ridges on the SearMagic cooking grids.
